

"IDOL K: IDOL OFFICE - PRODUCTION"

TRANSLATION: NARU-KUN / K-PROJECT WORLD

AGENCY TOKIJIKUIN:

The office of idols who wear gold color, led by Daikaku Kokujoji. The staff is called Rabbit, the entertainment agency that is arguably the largest in Japan today, works around the clock.

SHIROGIN RECORDS:

An office where people who have been given a silver idol color by the slate gather.

It used to be a super major entertainment agency that could compete with Japan's biggest agency "Agency Tokijikuin", but it almost stopped working in the aftermath of the Kagutsu incident. Currently, it is a minimal office with only three people registered.

There is no direct evidence, but there is a theory that the representative of "Shirogin Record" helped form "The Craters", a dream team where the "Idol Kings" met. The representative felt responsible for the dissolution of "The Craters" and withdrew from show business.

By the way, the current representative is Yashiro Isana, but it is unclear if Isana is the same person who represented "The Craters".

Currently, he is expanding his business in a wide range of fields in accordance with the intention of his representative, Isana.

PROMOTION SCEPTER 4:

An idol office where people with blue idol colors sign up.

Originally it was an office that arrived late, but with the president and earner Reisi Munakata at the top, it has become a major company comparable to "Homura Entertainment Office" due to its cohesion. The building on which it is based is the one used by "Idol King" Habari Jin, who once collected idols with the same blue idol color.

It seems that it was originally the site of the guards' camp.

They have a bedroom in the office and most of them, headed by the president, live together there. It may not be an exaggeration to say that the cleanliness and clean image of the idols belonging to this office are best suited for the ideal idols advocated by Daikaku Kokujoji.

The public's taste is also very high.

Therefore, the number of regular TV shows they own and the commercial appearance rate are much higher than other offices, and they also have four sign shows of their own. Not only is he good at variety shows, but he is also actively hosting live concerts and handshake events, and is fully fulfilling his main path as an idol.

HOMURA ENTERTAINMENT OFFICE:

The office that those with red idol colors belong to.

Once, the "Idol King" Kagutsu Genji gathered people in the red colors of idols to build an office, but it was almost like a gangster hangout for outlaw idols.

After Kagutsu's arrest, the office was disbanded. After that, with the new "Idol King" Mikoto Suoh, it was reborn as "Homura Entertainment Office" with a slightly less aggressive color. However, that's just a story compared to the Kagutsu era, and it's still an office where people with lots of blood gather.

The registered office building is the "HOMRA" bar owned by Izumo Kusanagi, who is Suoh's assistant, and the name of the office was taken from here.

Many of them have strong personalities and a great sense of humor. The idols that belong to the group are genuine, and the guitar technique of Mikoto Suoh, who retired from the position of president and returned to an artist, and the dance technique of Misaki Yata, who became the ace of the office, has received world-class accolades.

Furthermore, due to the diversified management strategy of Kusanagi Izumo, who is the midfielder of "Homura", he is now proud of the power of competing for one or two even in the era of the idol Yamatogo.

Mikoto Suoh is currently in the United States.

JUNGLE PRO:

An unofficial idol office of the government run by Nagare Hisui, who has a green idol color.

Although unofficially, it is the only underground group to rebel during the idol Yamatogo era. The idea is clear and is directed by Daikaku Kokujoji.

"The chosen one becomes an idol and leads the country."

Against the idea...

"Everyone can potentially be an idol and everyone should be an idol."

Has idealism. again,

"Idols are a manifestation of an individual's personality and should not be handled publicly."

He also has the claim.

Therefore, except for the base where several people from the core gather, there is no legally registered office, and there are also people who are not selected for the list, and they are extremely active as idols. Also, the place of activity is not a television station or a large concert hall, but a small live house or a video site.

They have launched an SNS of their own and also operate a video site called "M0RIMORI Video". In addition, in all the offices, the members are those who have gone through the selection of the slate and the "Idol King" explorer.
