[POSITION, OBJECTIVES]

Holder of the fourth sovereignty "Blue King". Director of the Anti-Singularity organization, the "Fourth Legal Affairs Bureau".

A former army major who worked in the General Staff Office, he is a skilled military bureaucrat nicknamed "Katashiya". After the war, he was assigned to the Ministry of Demobilization. Awakened as the "Blue King" after successfully wooing Chika. Soon after, he visited Daikaku Kokujoji and formed a cooperative relationship with him as a comrade in building a new system.

Since 1948, he has been in charge of general measures against criminals with special abilities as head of the newly established department within the Legal Affairs Agency, the "Fourth Legal Affairs Bureau".

He believes that building a "Slate" system, which he consults with Kokujoji, will open up the future of Japan, a defeated country, and strives to realize it. While supporting Kokujoji as a brain of wisdom in legal development and political strategy, he is also dedicated to expanding the power of the "Fourth Legal Affairs Bureau".

[PERSONALITY, CONDUCT]

The first person is "watashi".

Somei Chika is "Chika-san". Kokujoji Daikaku is "Kokujoji-kun". Polite and rude.

Calm, lucid and natural. He is unperturbed by all things. He likes explanations.

Because he is too biased in his words and actions, on the contrary, they are suspicious of his true intentions and is doubtful.

He has a bit of a lofty attitude towards others, but has no intention of being arrogant.

When he finds something messy, he sulks (Chika says that he seems like a "bit of a spoiled kid").

All of the above can easily be nullified by Chika's words and actions.

He likes to analyze, fix and put things in order, and he calls this job "tidying up".

Although he is a theoretician, he is not conceited and prefers to implement and practice theories in the real world.

Due to his estrangement, his personal connections are not as widespread, but the few connections he does have are extremely strong.

The terms kings and vassals are only considered convenient names in the system and are not taken literally.

During work, including Chika, he draws a line with his subordinates and treats them like a boss.

[ABILITIES, TACTICS]

He has the power to spread blue crystals to clear paranormal phenomena and restore tranquility. As an application, it is also possible to "settle" a person who has lost the balance of power. He clearly recognizes and is aware of the power of the "King", and uses it with considerable precision.

He uses a calm fighting style that combines sophisticated swordsmanship and the power of the "King".

[POWER]

A (Class "King".)

[LIKES]

Chika. Something that has been cut.

All meals made by Chika. Drive a car.

[DISLIKE]

Something that cannot be separated. Undivided.

A human being coming out of chaos.

[HOBBIES]

Clean and order.

Makeover and his imagination. Drive.

[CLAN]

The "Fourth Legal Affairs Bureau".

A powerful newly created organization within the Legal Affairs Agency that "is in charge of the management of peculiar phenomena that are not within the scope of the current law and headlines". Responsible for general measures against criminals with special powers that proliferate in the public, he is also entrusted with executive powers that are outside the scope of his functions. The director is Somei Nazumi. The vice-director is Somei Chika. Currently, they are in the process of recruiting staff, and the total number of employees is less than 30, including office staff.

Currently, their individual fighting power is high, but their group action ability is low. They reside in the annex of the former State Guest House, commonly known as "Seieisha".

All members are vassals of the "Blue King" and use sabers as weapons, a symbol of executive authority (they are free to use it). Because they wear a blue uniform, they are commonly referred to as "blue clothes".
