"Occult art contest?"

Sukuna and Mishakuji spoke to each other when they found out about the project Hisui Nagare brought in.

"Affirmative. I sent you a proposal, so please read it."

That said, Sukuna confirmed on his PDA. Certainly Nagare sent a PDF file saying "Look at it.", he complained and thinned his lips.

"Occult art in the New Year. Hey, it's kind of futuristic."

"That being said, you really don't like it because there is no hidden art?"

"Huh? No, I have a hidden trick or two! Look!"

Sukuna pushed the metal staff in his hand to the ground and lifted his body in the same way that he did. The appearance of swinging your legs stretched out in the air to balance them is like an acrobat.

"Hey. It's hard to do."

"I'm dancing so this is it. What about Yukari?"

In response to Sukuna's question, Yukari shook his neck and said, "Yes."

"How about this?"

With that said, he threw the apple that was in the chabudai into the sky.

He paused a moment on the top of the sword, then fell freely.

Then a white light swirled around the block.

"Ah?"

At the same time that fell on the chabudai, the skin of the apple fell off. The spirally peeled skin was connected like a ribbon. He puts the sword in the sheath and Yukari mutters.

"Is 'Ayamachi's' blade a bit dull? I have to deal with that later."

"It's wonderful, Sukuna, Yukari. Let's make a video of current occult art later. I'll process and edit it."

"Okay, but where will you play that video?"

Nagare's eyes glowed brightly.

"I am going to hack the New Year's Occult Art Tournament that will be broadcast on the national network and show the video instead. This is the secret trick of 'Jungle Pro'."

"Oh, it's true!"

"It means to make the Ayaba flowers that cover other flowers bloom. Fufu, it's interesting."

"Thanks for accepting. Let's get ready."

"Understood!"

At that moment, the door behind the three people who were excited opened with a "Spam!", and Iwafune desperately appeared from inside.

"Stop it? It's a normal crime, that is!"
