

MINI EPISODES: STUCK ACT TWO

TRANSLATION: NARU-KUN / K-PROJECT WORLD

That day, Gojo Sukuna was tormented in front of the vending machine.

"Well, really?"

He was very thirsty, but the sensor on the vending machine was broken and he couldn't buy juice with his PDA.

"Is it necessary to put coins one by one to change? It is the Stone Age."

He took out his wallet and had approximately three coins in it. In fact, even if he went to a convenience store, he rarely paid with anything other than electronic money, and it might have been his first experience in life putting a coin in the coin slot of a vending machine.

That's why...

"Ah." He noticed that the tip of his finger slipped and he dropped the coin. Also, a rolling 10 yen coin rolls between the vending machines.

"After all!"

He bent down, reached out and tried to lift it before he couldn't get it, but couldn't make it in time.

Sukuna pushed his body forward and his head towards the vending machine and the darkness created by the vending machine.

Fortunately, his body was still the size of a child and he was able to enter the gap well.

He managed to retrieve the money despite his tense posture, he lifted his upper body and was relieved.

But this time,

"Damn!"

He could not get out of the disaster because his body was no longer a small child.

"No, no, no."

He tries to stretch his legs. That was not good. Body twisted. It just hurts.

With a very loud scream, "Uooh!", he fluttered and struggled, but, on the contrary, ended up heavily caught in the gap.

Sukuna was desperate then.

He thought it was over. Crawling, drooling and spending some time. It was the time necessary to harden. However, the belly cannot be replaced on the back. He has no choice but to contact someone for help.

Sukuna bit his lips hard and pressed the PDA. At the time he was trying to choose to survive now instead of pride.

"What are you doing?"

He hears the voice of a very cute girl. Sukuna turned blue and wrapped his neck around himself.

Anna Kushina was there and looked through the gap.

(Gak! Anna Kushina!)

He thought about it several times. However, as a sensitive boy, he didn't want the girls of his generation to see him in this kind of scene.

"Are you stuck?"

So she asks him,

"Hey, I'm not stuck!"

His voice turned. Anna has a warm and friendly appearance. Understanding, she reached out, hitting Sukuna's shoulder.

"Okay. You're not trapped at all."

It was as clear as if she had ever experienced it.

Then she puts her shoulders tight and tries to pull Sukuna's arm.

"What are you doing?"

When Sukuna asks,

"You are not stuck, but I will help you."

With that said, she moves her body closer. Sukuna screamed.

"Ah, you think me an idiot!"

It was embarrassing, but more than that he was just worried. Anna forces herself to enter a narrow space.

If SHE do that...

"I cannot move."

After a while, Anna flirted with him.

"Look, look at you!"

"I am not trapped."

Anna just denies there.

"But I can't go back or forth."

"We are trapped between these things!"

"I'm not trapped, but I'm in trouble."

"Let's go!"

A hilarious voice was heard when the two young were loud.

"Ah? Anna? What are you doing?"

It turned out to be Neko passing by. With curiosity she lights her eyes.

"Eh? I wonder if they are trapped?"

That said, she forced her upper body into the narrow space. Both Sukuna and Anna try to stop at the same time.

Neko's movements were hard to see. It is a typical case that makes things worse when it comes.

And as expected.

"Oh, that's why Wagahai got stuck too..."

So she said. Sukuna and Anna sighed at the same time. After a while, Fushimi Saruhiko saw Neko's narrow body that seemed to grow from the space between the narrow vending machine and the other vending machine (kicking). It was Anna's serious face and Sukuna's shabby hands that made him stand out.

One time, Fushimi, who was a filmmaker, immediately understood the whole circumstance and normally contacted the fire department to request the rescue. And elementary school students in the neighborhood who witnessed the entire rescue story began to fear the vending machine as a "cannibal vending machine."